By RFE/RL, last updated May 17, 2017 1528 GMT Hungary's foreign minister has dismissed a European Parliament resolution condemning the country, saying that it amounted to a new attack on Hungary by George Soros's network. In the resolution adopted earlier on May 17, the European Parliament condemned what it called a serious deterioration in the rule of law and fundamental rights in Hungary. The document also urges the Hungarian government to repeal laws tightening rules against asylum seekers and nongovernmental organizations and to make it possible for a top university founded by financier George Soros to remain in Budapest as "a free institution".
