An AP article as published by CBC, Canada, Jan 6, 2018 Anastasiya Kuzmina and Martin Fourcade extended their overall biathlon World Cup leads after winning pursuit races on Saturday in Oberhof, Germany. Two-time Olympic champion Kuzmina, who won the women's 7.5-kilometre sprint on Thursday, followed up by winning the 10-kilometre pursuit in 30 minutes, 49.5 seconds despite two missed targets. The Slovak beat Italy's Dorothea Wierer by 1:04.4 and Ukraine's Vita Semerenko by 1:10.2. Both Wierer and Semerenko shot cleanly.
