

Euro and gold down in early trading in Asia
Bus./Industry

Posted by:

Posted on : 2018/6/7 12:11:35

Thursday morning markets – as published in The Week

Asian markets are up this morning, following a strong performance on Wall Street overnight and a surge in the price of copper. Supply problems in Venezuela have helped push oil prices higher, and gold edged down slightly despite a weakening US dollar. Nikkei: 22,846.89, up 0.98% Hang Seng: 31,403.75, up 0.46% Dow:25,146.39, up 1.40% Dollar: £1 = $1.3436, up 0.19% Euro: £1 = €1.1385, down 0.40% Brent crude: $75.90, up 0.72% Gold: $1,297.02, down 0.01% For more international news, link here: @TheWeekUK