Ukraine totally dominated the last series event in Los Angeles last week.

By James Diamond for Inside the Games, Thursday, 14 June 2018 The ninth instalment of the International Swimming Federation's (FINA) Artistic Swimming World Series starts tomorrow [June 15]. The event goes ahead on Syros Island in Greece and finishes on Sunday (June 17). It is the penultimate stop of the series, which has already visited cities including Paris, Beijing, Tokyo and Budapest. Ukraine totally dominated the last series event in Los Angeles last week. Of the 10 competitions that took place the Eastern Europeans won six and came second in two. They did not take part in the other two, meaning the worst result in any event they entered was second.
